COMMITTEE NOT INDORSE

This Held to He the Province of the State Convention.

LANSING, MICH., April 15.—The Democratic convention committee, at a meeting here to-day, was almost evenly divided upon the question of formally indorsing the candidacy of William J. Bryan for the nomination for the presidency. The vote stood eleven in favor of indorsing Bryan and twelve against indorsement, the matter being referred to the State convention. It was decided to hold the State convention in Lansing May 20th. The committeemen voting against the motion said they were not opposing Mr. Bryan's candidacy, but they held that it was not in accordance with the principles of the party for the State committee to indorse any candidate.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

HIGH POINT, N. C., April 15.—Mr., Valter George Newman, formerly of dirginia, out now a Wall Street financier, while on a recent trip in this ceality, handed out an interesting circular of which he is the author, and me has reached the newspaper men of his city. The circular, which is illustrated, gives the results as he sees hem from Mr. Roosevelt's policies. As he circular has not been in print in the State as far as I have seen, it will o doubt prove interesting reading. The paper says:

SPEAKER RTCHARD EVELYN BYRD, of the Virginia House of Delegates, who has arranged to practice his profession of law in Richmond as well as in his home city of Winchester, left here yesterday for Westover, where he will spend saveral days to rest and recreation. When about to take his train, Mr. Byrd was shown a cilpping from a Norfolk paper which accused him of being the candidate of the machine for permanent chairman of the coming Reanoke convention, and asked if he had any statement to make concerning it.

"None whatever," was his prompt reply, "except that this is the first intimation I have had that I was the candidate of any faction or wing of my party. As a matter of fact, I had never thought of aspiring to the chairmanship of the Roanoke, convention until the matter was suggested to me by a Richmond newspaper man, who is a warm personal friend of mine, and who is known to hold views strongly in opposition to those entertained by leaders, who are commonly thought to train with the organization or machine, if you choose so to designate it. I am making no fight for the Diace, and shall feel perfectly satisfied if the committee on permanent organization shall see fit to recommend some one clse."

As a matter of fact, if precedent counts for anything, the Speaker has a strong claim to the honor, which will almost certainly materialize at Roal most, and it is that without regard to faction or local feeling, the following eminent predecessors in his office have been the permanent chairmen of State conventions: Hon. Marshall Hanger, of Staunton; Hon. R. H. Cardwell, of Hanover; Hon. Edward W. Saunders, of Staunton; Hon. R. H.
